

BARD

The US-Israel Binational Agricultural Research and Development Fund

announces its

Senior Research Fellowship Program

The objective of the program is to promote joint agricultural research or other scientific activities of high quality between established scientists from the United States and their Israeli counterparts.

Citizens of the United States who are research scientists affiliated with a US non-profit research institution, university, federal or state agency are eligible to apply.

Next Submission Date: January 15, 2009

Details: www.bard-isus.com