HUES ASU LGBTQ+ Identity Project mentoring + community development

Are you a member of the ASU LGBTQ+ student community?
Join the HUES research study!

Healthy identity expression and development of cultural capital and resilience are essential to ASU's LGBTQ+ student community, offering the connection, support and guidance important to your success in all aspects of life.

Whether you are newly exploring what it means to be part of the LGBTQ+ community or are seeking greater social connection with your LGBTQ+ peers, HUES is an opportunity to develop vital community connections at ASU.

The HUES ASU LGBTQ+ Identity Project is currently recruiting participants for a research study taking place between August and December 2018.

One-to-one mentoring

Participants are matched with an LGBTQ+ student, faculty, or staff member from the ASU community. Meeting at least once a month, participants and mentors work toward participants' interpersonal, individual or psychosocial goals.

Community enrichment programming

Monthly panel discussions, community dialogues, or workshops let participants engage with other members of the ASU LGBTQ+ community and learn about valuable identity-development resources.

Community photo-narrative project

Participants individually and collectively examine LGBTQ+ identity and community through the HUES Community Project, a participatory photo-narrative exploration of the ASU LGBTQ+ experience.
