

Test Prep Courses for Graduate School

ASU students now have access to free cutting edge online self-paced prep options. Arizona State's forward thinking strategy to ensure its students' access to the test prep that is vital to their acceptance into the graduate programs of their dreams is a unique and valuable benefit. The Princeton Review also offers live teacher-led courses at a special discount offered only to ASU students.

Free Online Self-Paced Prep

The Online Self-Paced courses deliver all the prep tools you need to study on your own. All your lessons, drills and practice tests are online, ready for you whenever you want to use them.

Test Type	Retail Cost	ASU Student Cost
MCAT	$1599	$0
LSAT	$499	$0
GMAT	$499	$0
GRE	$499	$0

Discounted Teacher-Led Courses

If you feel that a more traditional in-class experience is a better fit for you, ASU has also negotiated the best possible rates for students who would like to take live, teacher-led courses. After all, the best results are often instructor-led and learning with your peers can have a positive impact on your study experience.

Test Type	Retail Cost	ASU Student Cost
MCAT/MCAT 2015	$2299/$2499	$1500/$1600
LSAT	$1449	$950
GMAT	$1599	$1050
GRE	$1299	$800

Terms and Conditions: Student must currently attend ASU full time. Student must have two years of his or her degree program completed to be eligible for the prep program. Student must take the official test for which he or she prepped within one calendar year of enrollment in his or her prep program. If the student fails to do so, he or she will be charged the fees associated with the prep program chosen. See full list of terms and conditions at: princetonreview.com/partner/asu.

The Princeton Review
(480) 968-6381
ASUGradPrep@review.com

Contact Us
ASU Career Services
(480) 965-2350
CareerServices@asu.edu